

2009 Vote Ratings

House Ratings

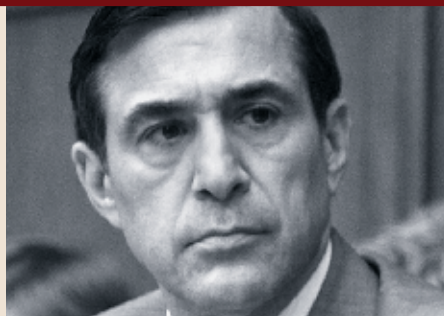

In the following list, House members are assigned separate scores for their roll-call votes on key economic, social, and foreign-policy issues during 2009. The members are rated in each of the three issue categories on both liberal and conservative scales, with the scores on each scale given as percentiles. An economic score of 72 on the conservative scale, for example, means that the member was more conservative than 72 percent of his or her House colleagues on the key votes in that issue area during 2009. An asterisk [*] means that the member missed more than half of the rated votes in an issue area. Composite scores are an average of the six issue-based scores. Members with the same composite scores are tied in rank.

*These House members do not have scores for 2009 because they missed more than half of the rated votes in an issue area: Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif., who as speaker typically does not vote; John Garamendi, D-Calif., who was elected on November 3, 2009; Judy Chu, D-Calif., who was elected on July 14, 2009; Bill Owens, D-N.Y., who was elected on November 3, 2009; and John Lewis, D-Ga., John Sullivan, R-Okla., and Patrick Kennedy, D-R.I., each of whom missed 13 key foreign-policy votes because of absences in June 2009.

†No longer a member of the House. Ellen Tauscher, D-Calif., resigned on June 26, 2009, to join the State Department; Robert Wexler, D-Fla., resigned on January 4, 2010, to join the Center for Middle East Peace; Neil Abercrombie, D-Hawaii, intends to resign on February 28, 2010, to run for governor; John McHugh, R-N.Y., resigned on September 21, 2009, to serve as Army secretary; and John Murtha, D-Pa., died on February 8, 2010.

NOTES: House members with the same composite scores are tied in rank. The lowest rank in the House is 425th on the liberal scale and 423rd on the conservative scale, because members who missed more than half of the rated votes in any of the three issue categories do not receive composite scores, and because of ties.

For the purposes of the 2009 ratings, Parker Griffith of Alabama was treated as a Democrat. He switched to the GOP on December 22, after the House had finished voting for the year.
